

The Traralgon Growth Areas Review (TGAR) project commenced in June 2009. Initial public consultation regarding the project was undertaken in September 2009.

The project was delayed in the past due to a number of reasons including the caretaker period for the Council by-election and the Council by-election during July – August 2011, and to allow further opportunity for consultation with Councillors following a council resolution.

Latrobe City Council has commenced the following actions to bring TGAR to a satisfactory conclusion in an expeditious timeframe. The actions are:

- Identification of timelines associated with delivery of the TGAR project.
- Identification of a revised community engagement plan to communicate the next steps associated with the project.

It is expected that the information regarding the actions above will be presented for Council's consideration in February 2012. Further information regarding TGAR project will be made available once the timelines and community engagement plan is endorsed by Council.
